Lampshades

This season, bring home a natural forest-like ambience with these handcrafted paper lampshades from Shradhanjali, adorned with some of our most beautiful and unique finds from the forests of Auroville!

On the left, we have the distinctively shaped leaf of the Flame of the forest tree, Butea monosperma, ornamenting this little cube shade (red cedar base).

A delightful addition to your living space, these lampshades are created with assorted papers, explored in different shapes and decorated with magnificent leaves on a cedar or acacia wood base.

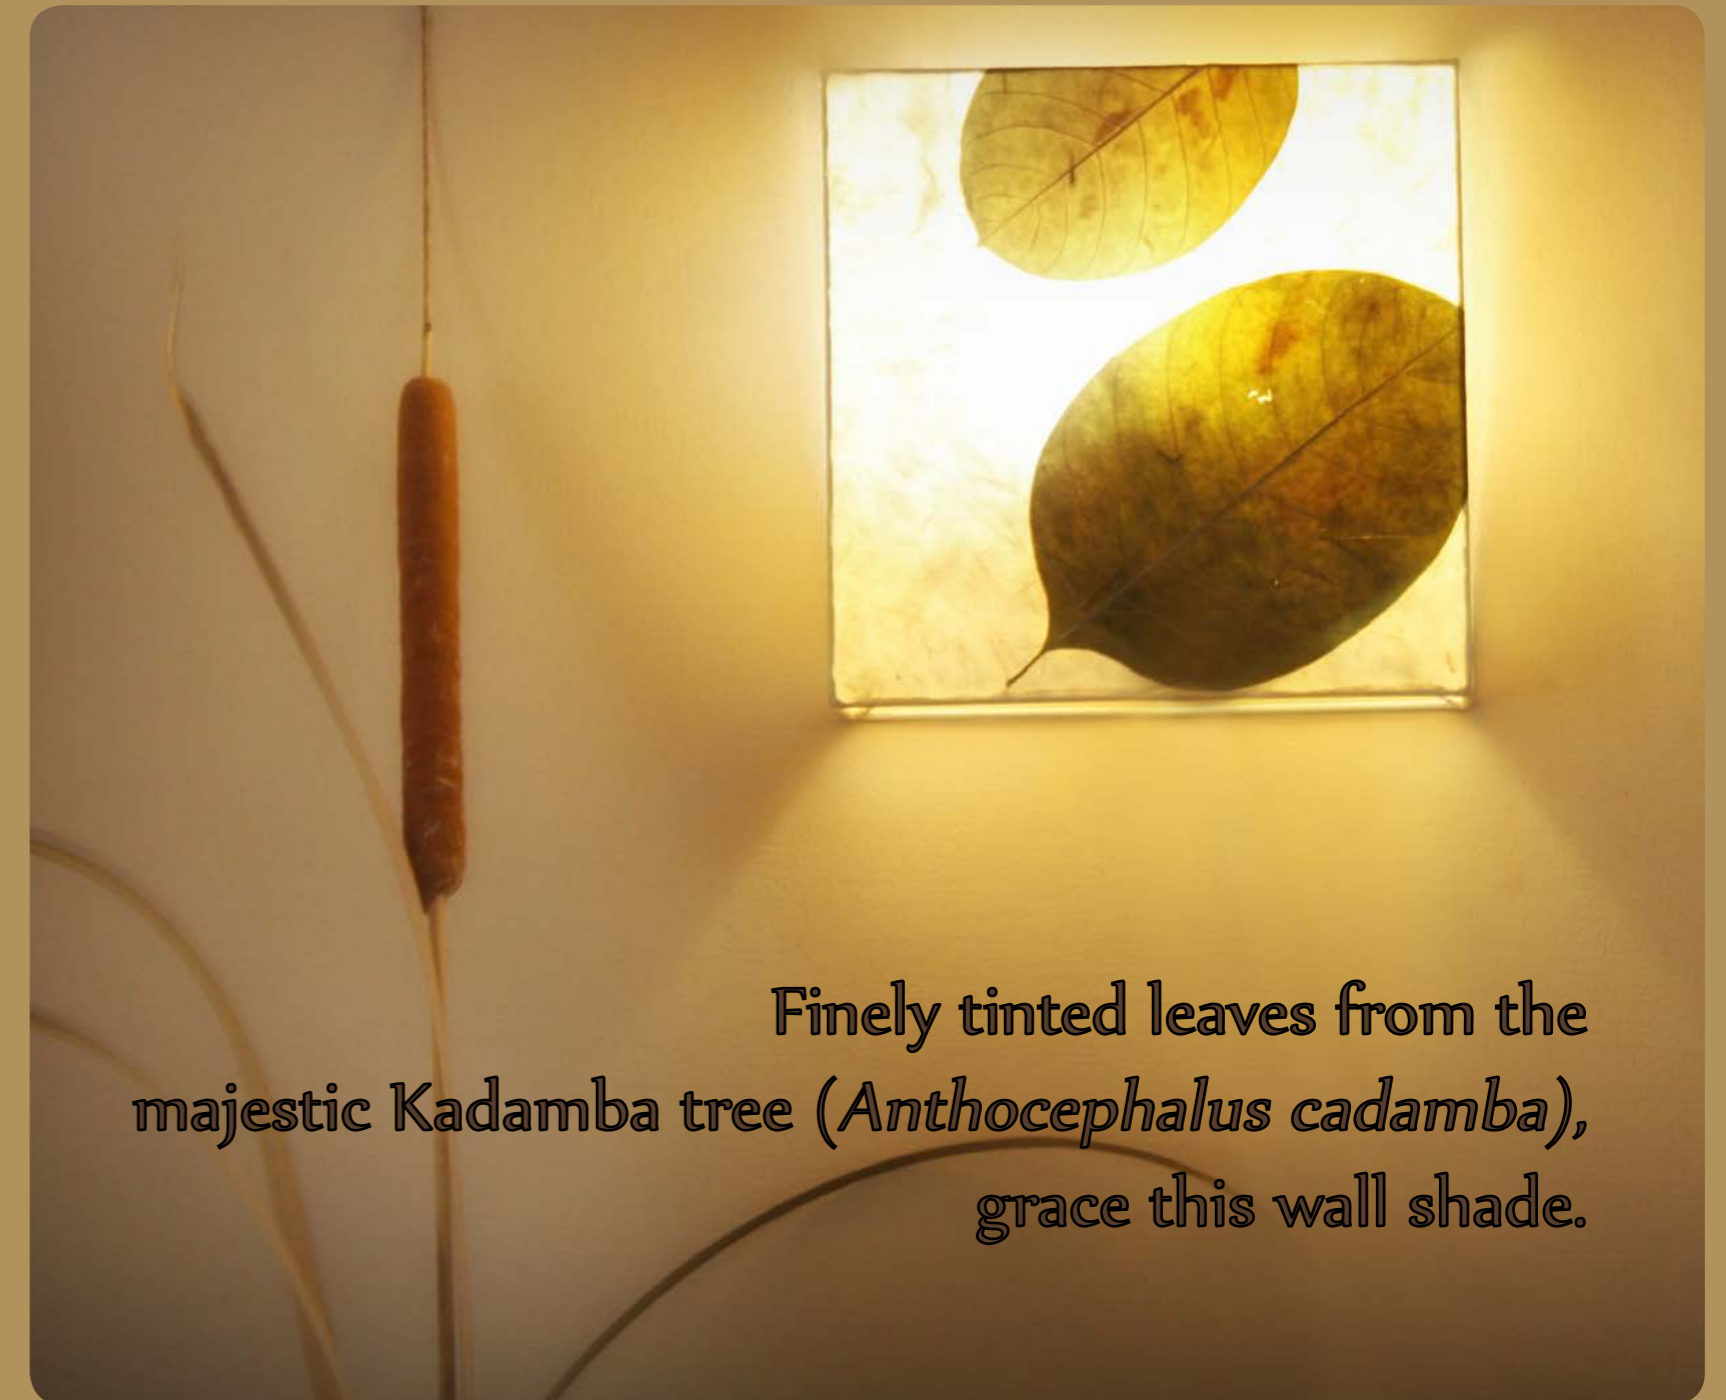

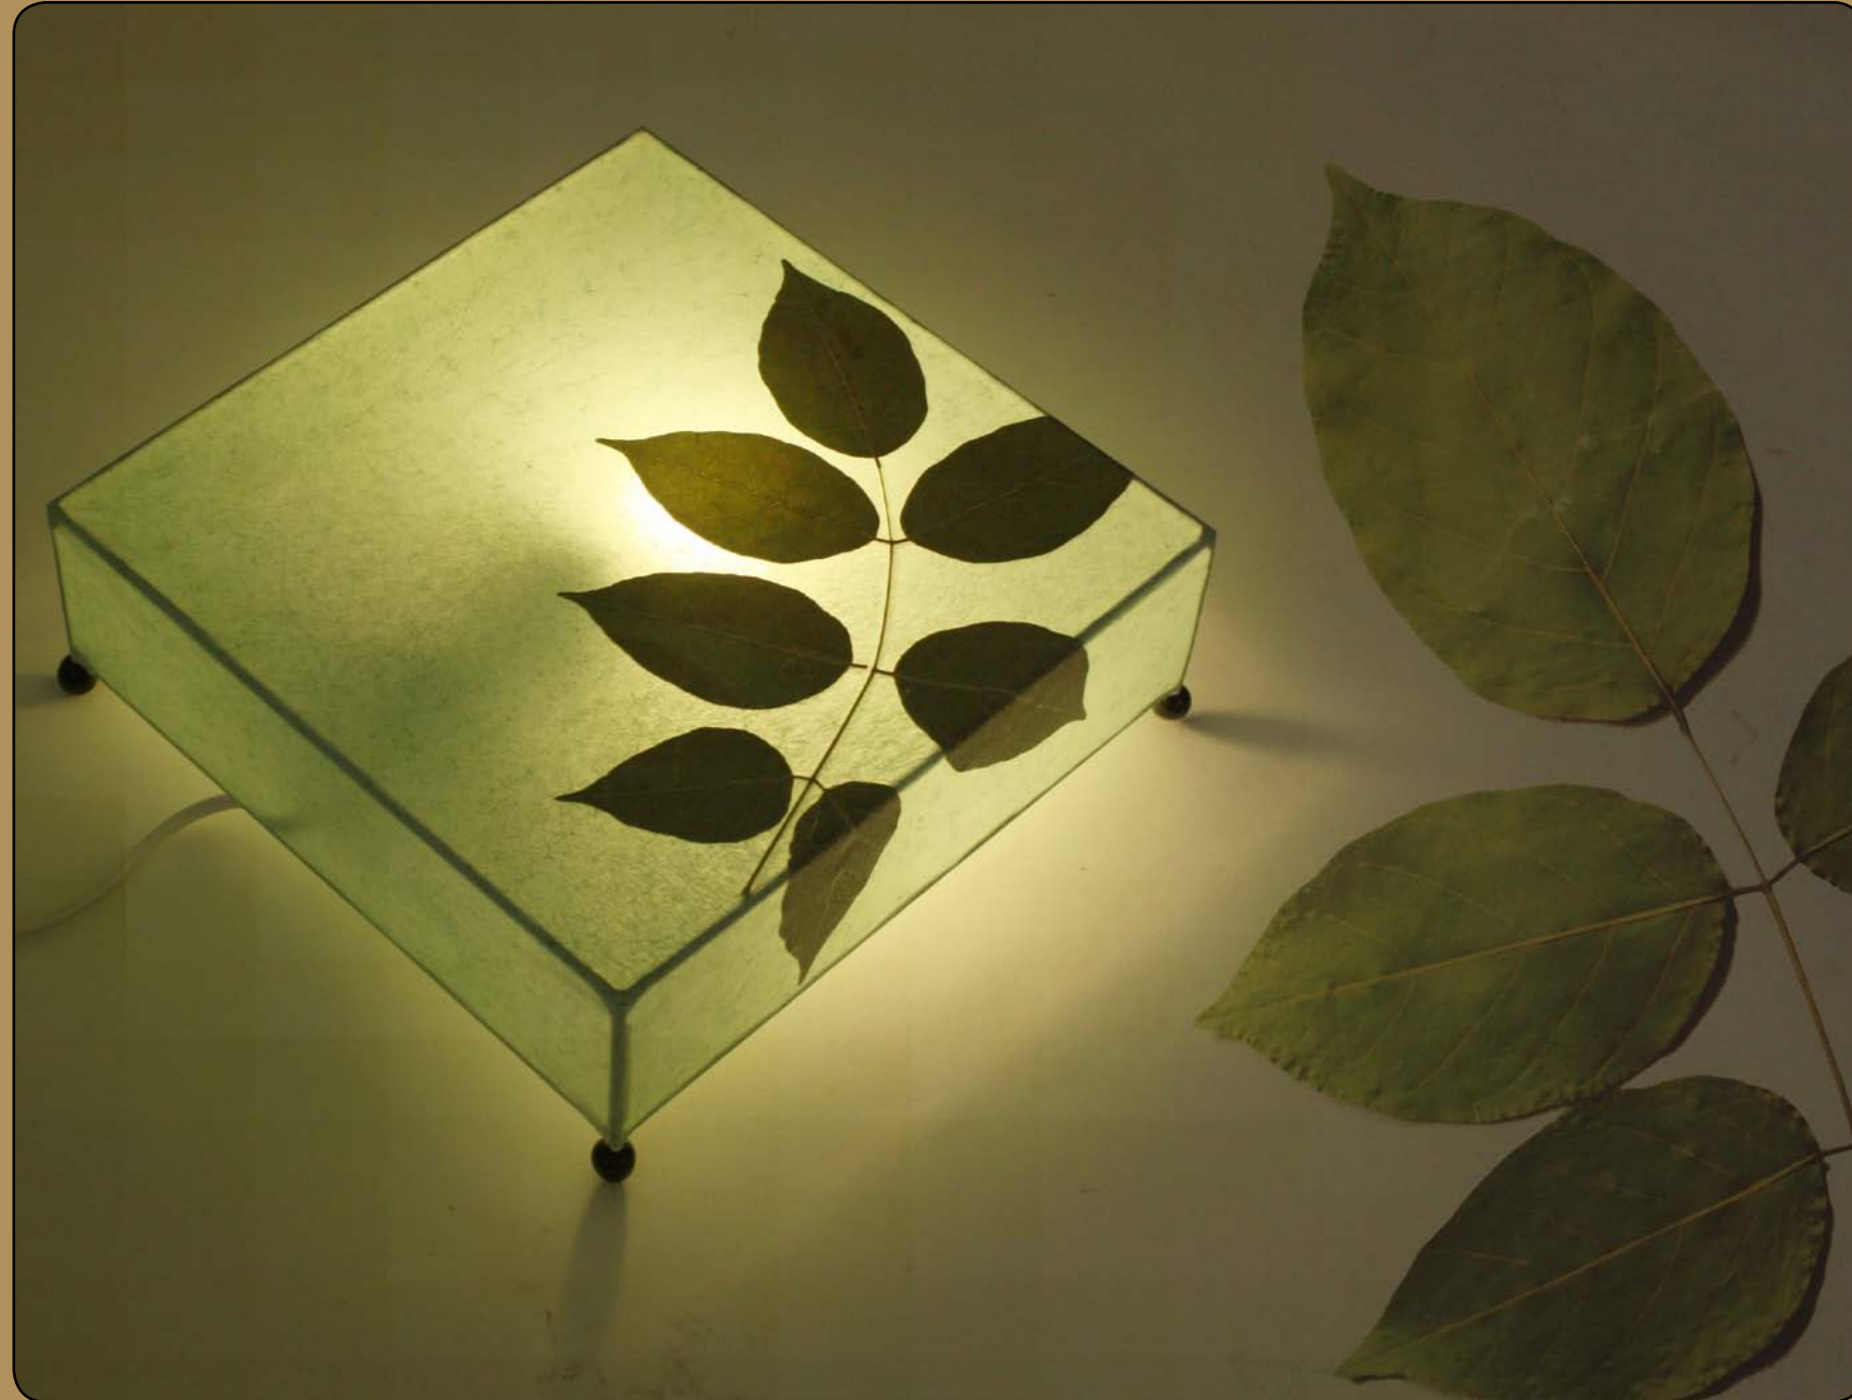

Handmade,
with paper
cutwork
and real
flowers,
here is
'Light Lattice',
our latest
range

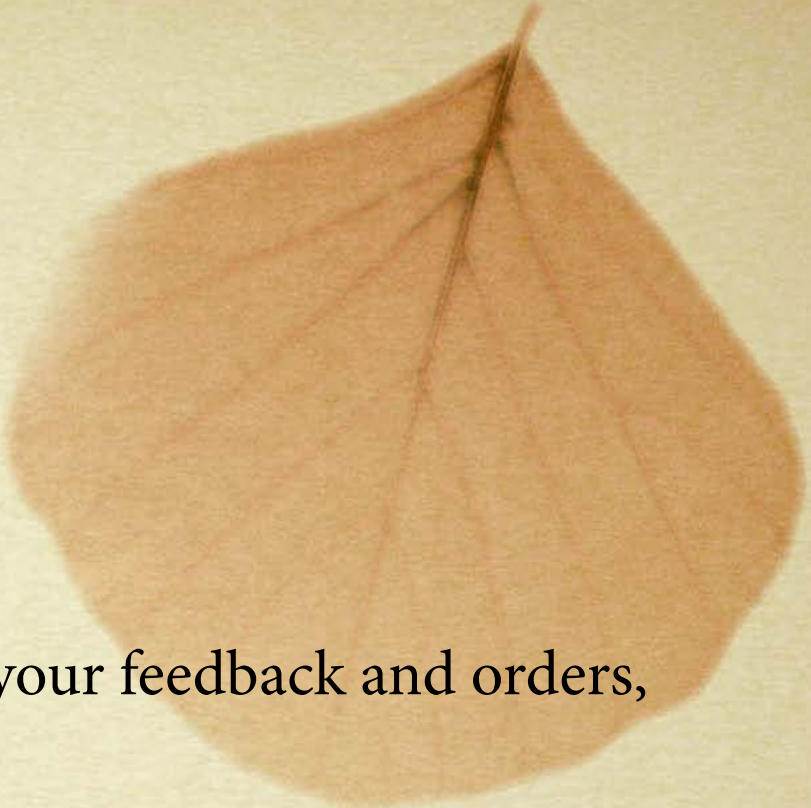

A kaleidoscope
of light and shadow, and changing
shapes,
each different,
is the
inspiration for this collection.

Pongamia pinnata leaves decorate this delicate green table lampshade with soapnut seed feet, bringing a woodland feel into the home.

Finely tinted leaves from the majestic Kadamba tree (Anthocephalus cadamba), grace this wall shade.

Looking forward to your feedback and orders,
